

Summer heat and humidity return

A few lingering showers or storms are possible across parts of the region this morning. Clouds are expected to decrease during the remainder of the day as the heat and humidity return. Hot and humid conditions will persist through early next week.

A few showers and storms will linger across parts of the Great Lakes and Ohio Valley. Coastal sections of the Southeast and parts of the northern Plains and southern Rockies will also see a few storms develop. High pressure will keep dry conditions in place throughout the Northeast and Mid-Atlantic.
